The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors.

No antecedent basis is seen for "said springs" in line of 2 of claim 1; the term "preferably" in line 5 of claim 1 is confusingly used; and method claims 2-4 improperly depend on article claim 1.

Dimitry et al (note "split" in figure 1 and 3) and Koenigsberg, teaching the use of corner supports for springs, are cited as relevant art.
